Women's Giving Circle EXPANDS TO THE EAST VALLEY

By Kim Tarnopolski

Do you want to make a difference in your community but your time is limited?

This desire is what motivates members of 100+ Women Who Care Valley of the Sun to come together for one hour per quarter. The concept is straightforward: 100+ women, one hour per quarter, $100 per individual member/team = $10,000+ to a local charity. The causes supported come directly from the members who care about the issues facing us today: poverty, hunger, homelessness, disease, seniors, and children to name a few.

Members nominate local charities to be considered. After a thorough vetting process, the charity goes in the hat for the random draw at each meeting. When the charity is drawn, the member speaks to the mission and needs of the organization. The group hears about three charities per meeting and then, the members vote. The charity with the most votes is the recipient of that meeting's donations.

"We've heard from so many women that want to be involved in some way in giving back to their community, yet their time and funds are limited," shares Chandler resident and member, Leann Landberg. "100+ Women Who Care is a simple way to make a big impact that requires very little in terms of time and dollar commitment."

During the past three years, the sister groups in Ahwatukee, Scottsdale and the West Valley have donated over $225,000 to local nonprofits. And now, women in the East Valley have the opportunity to participate in this circle of giving.

An introductory event will be held on February 8, 2018 at 6:30 p.m. at The Forum in Chandler. Additional information and registration may be found at www.100wvcvalleyofthesun.org/meetings.
